

Hatched Batch

by Heidi Bee Roemer

Half a dozen turtle eggs

in a clutch of sand.

Six turtles hatch.

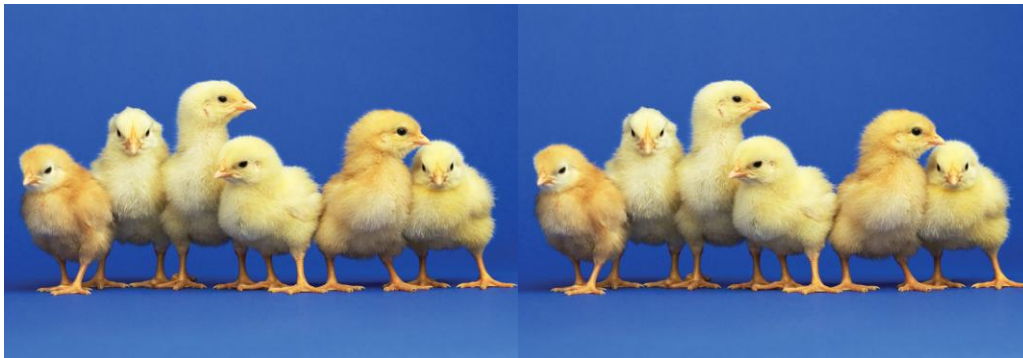

Isn't that grand?

A dozen chicken eggs

lay in a nest of sticks.

Twelve eggs hatch. See?

A dozen downy chicks!

Used with permission of the publisher, Highlights for Children, Inc.
from the April 2004 issue of Teaching K-8 magazine.