The Blue Whale

by Heidi Bee Roemer

Deep in the Antarctic Ocean

swim mammals whose size is titanic.

They eat millions of tiny crustaceans.

Their appetite's truly gigantic.

Their eyes?

The size of grapefruits.

Their heart?

Weighs as much as a car.

Their tongue?

Weighs as much as an elephant.

Their babies?

The biggest by far!

Blue Whales don't have many predators to bully or pull a mean trick on them.

They're the largest of all in the ocean, so rarely would anyone pick on them!
