

Just Weight

by Heidi Bee Roemer

Harold is no lightweight and Holly's not petite.
But at the zoo, these hefty two are proud of their physiques.

Harold brags to Holly,
"I'm muscular, not fat.
I weigh more than you do.
I'm three tons to be exact!"

"Ha, ha, ha!" says Holly.
"Don't mean to spoil your fun,
but in kilos I'm two thousand,
seven hundred twenty one!"

The silly hippos argue.
Then Harold says, "All right.
We'll find a scale and weigh ourselves."

Which of them is right?

Note: 2721.55 kilograms equals 3 tons
