

STEAM Powered Poetry Videos
SteamPoweredPoetry.com

Name That Seed!

By Heidi Bee Roemer

This "helicopter" seed is a sign of spring.

See it whirl on angel wings.

What kind of seed is this? Maple seed.

It looks like a bowling ball but acts like a boat.

It's heavy, yes, yet it can float.

What kind of seed is this? Coconut

Pluck a fluffy tuft and blow—

Watch these "parachute seeds" go!

What kind of seed is this? Dandelion

These prickly seeds stick to your clothes and hitch a ride wherever you go.

What kind of seed is this? Cocklebur

Blown by the wind, these desert weeds

roll along and scatter seeds.

What kind of seed is this? Tumbleweed

Squirrels go nuts for seeds that crunch.

They hide these treats for a winter lunch.

What kind of seed is this? Acorn

CREDITS:

Poem by Heidi Bee Roemer

Video by [Student's Name]

Poem published in Teaching K-8 magazine, Feb. 2004

Used with permission Highlights for Children, Inc.